

TABLE OF CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION	5
PART I – SCIENCE AS POWER AND THE POWER OF SCIENCE	13
Science and power relations: Circulation of agents and natural philosophical knowledge between Portugal and Brazil in the 18 th century – The case of António Nunes Ribeiro Sanches	15
Gisele Cristina da Conceição
The Luso-Brazilian medical students at Montpellier and the establishment of an intellectual elite between two Atlantic empires	37
Rafael Dias da Silva Campos
From the garden of Mr. Lindo to the Philosophical Transactions. Scientific exchanges and knowledge legitimation in the mid-18th century Royal Society	53
Carla Vieira
PART II – PERCEPTIONS AND INTERACTIONS WITHIN COLONIAL NATURAL WORLDS	73
Towards a scientific approach of nature: Looking at Southern Africa biodiversity throughout the 16th century Portuguese records on marine fauna	75
Ana Cristina Roque
Connected margins and disconnected knowledge: Exotic marine mammals in the making of early modern European natural history	103
Cristina Brito
A comparative approach to historical whaling techniques: Transfer of knowledge in the 17th century from the Biscay to Brazil	125
Nina Vieira
From the New World to Barcelona: American flora in the Salvador's Cabinet	145
Julianna Morcelli Oliveros
PART III – COLONIAL MEDICAL PRACTICES AND THE TRANSFERENCE OF KNOWLEDGE	165
The Eastern Portuguese Empire: Frontiers and contact zones in knowledge production contexts	167
Fabiano Bracht
Circulation of knowledge between Portugal and Brazil in the 18th century. The case study of thermal bathing	193
Monique Palma
Medicinal plants of Brazil in the pharmacopoeias of the friar João de Jesus Maria	207
Wellington Bernardelli Silva Filho	